EASTERN DATES TO FEB. 14.

EASTERN STATES.

Still after the Tammany Thieves.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—An order for arrest was granted yesterday against Walter Roche, a prominent Tammanyite, Vice President of the Bowling Green and Guardian of the Savings Bank. It was made in behalf of depositors in the Bowling Green Savings Bank, who sue Roche for alleged misappropriation of bank money. A similar proceeding will be taken against Hank Smith, President of the Bank. Nathaniel Sands publishes a statement to the effect that the alleged offence for which he has been indicted is a legitimate business transaction which his official duties did not prevent him from engaging in. He was instrumental in saving at least a million dollars to the city.

The London Times on the Treaty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The London Times of January 26th says of the Geneva arbitration, that the protocol of May 4, 1871, complied with provisions of subsequent articles, is sufficient to show that claims for indirect losses were not contemplated. Whatever claims for direct losses are admissable with respect to all vessels comprised in the American list, is a question left open by the treaty, and, therefore, properly cognizable by arbitrators. It argues that Great Britain would have terminated the treaty conference had it been understood that a demand would be made for losses by prolongation of the war. An agreement would be entirely onesided that made arbitrators judges of the conduct of England by rules that are unjust.

Water Cure Establishment Burned.

GALESBURG, ILL., Feb. 13.—McCall's water-cure establishment, in this city, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. A large number of patients were with difficulty removed to a place of safety. Loss $105,000 or $110,000.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The drawing of jurors continued in the Oyer and Terminer Court to try the validity of the Stokes indictment. Several panels had formed opinions and were rejected. About four more persons are necessary to complete the panel, but it is improbable that they will all be elected to-day.

The new charter for the city is being considered in the Legislature.

A special dispatch from Washington says the Committee on Ways and Means will report forthwith in favor of reducing the tariff on tea and coffee, but not on sugar.

Judge Bedford to-day sentenced a garroter named McLaughlin to twenty years hard labor in the State Prison.

The Receiver of the Stuyvesant Bank to day reports more than enough assets to cover all liabilities.

Henry Cleys & Co., of this city, received to-day cable advices from their house in London confirming the recovery of American securities occasioned by recent panics, adding that the violent denunciations of the American Government by the English press meets with disapprobation throughout London circles, and that a conciliatory spirit is manifested by the public at large, showing itself in some instances by a demand for a change in the Ministry.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Miscellaneous News.

ROME, Feb. 13.—United States Minister Jay, from Austria, arrived yesterday to meet General Sherman. Both were presented to King Victor Emmanuel, who gave a cordial reception.

The telegraph from Bombay announcing the assassination of Earl Mayo caused intense excitement in India. In Calcutta and Bombay the murder is the universal theme of conversation, and all business is suspended.

The Franco-German postal convention has been signed by the respective parties thereto.

The Famine in Persia—Reply of our Government to Great Britain.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Dispatches from Teheran, Persia, state that the famine in Persia continues unabated. Many persons are dying daily.

It is reported in this city that the reply of the American Government to Earl Granville's note in reference to the claim for indirect damages reached Minister Schenck to-day.

UTAH.

Fatal Affray.

OGDEN, Feb. 13.—At old camp Florez, yesterday, during a dispute about a cutting affray which occurred several days ago, Geo. Williams drew a pistol and shot J. Cunnington in the head. Cunnington returned the fire, hitting Williams in the breast, killing him instantly. The parties were from Lewiston.

Condition of the Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—A private dispatch dated 8:30 P. M. at Corinne says that nothing has passed Bitter Creek westward. The trains are still near Separation. The trains bound east are still at Green river. The telegraph wires are buried in the snow east of Evanston.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13th.—The following companies have been incorporated: Benjamin Gold and Silver Mining Company, with two millions of dollars capital, to operate in Arizona; Ingollar Silver Mining Company, four millions, Ely district, Arizona; Hoffman Silver Mining Company, Ely district, capital three millions.

It is feared that the ship Africa, two hundred days out from Glasgow, with coal for this port, is probably lost. Nothing has been heard from her since she sailed. She is an iron vessel, and was consigned to F. Bell & Co.

It is reported that Hayward and others are buying up Savage stock for the purpose of consentrating it, as in the case of Point and Belcher. These reports are being industriously circulated on the street, and appear to have considerable effect on the price. Total stock sales to-day, 22,680 shares. Ely 125; Savage, 230; Kentuck 242½; Norcross 240; Nevada 20½; Treas. 733; Justice 65; Chariot 12½; Elmore 13; Alpha 3½; Independent 10½; Mahogany 9½; Monmouth 50; Belvue 17; South Chariot 22; Overman 59½ Julia 9½.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—The report that Alvinza Hayward has bought Livingston's interest in the Savage stock and now controls 11,000 shares in that mine, is now generally admitted to be true. Nevertheless, the price has not advanced, only 240 being bid on the street before the board. There have been sales of Kentuck at 250, and Curry, 195. The market appears quiet and a little weak.

Arrived—bark Quickstep from Hongkong, mdse to Macondray & Co.; ship Sumatra, Hongkong, teas—overland, if the road over opens—to Messrs. Williams, Blanchard & Co.

Sales in the new board this morning: Choller, 62; Virginia Con., 48½; Curry, 195@190; Overman, 60; Alpha, 30; Knickerbocker, 32.

The women suffragists elected Mrs. Palmer, of Nevada, President; Col. A. J. Comins and a number of ladies Vice Presidents.

Mrs. Morris, Justice of the Peace from Wyoming, who was present, being called on for a speech, said that contrary to what she had been led to expect, she had found men of integrity in office, and did not find the corruption which she had been taught existed in politics.

Dualin, the newly invented explosive, is a terrible destructive agent. It looks like a mixture of sawdust and lard, and has a sickly odor. It does not explode by concussion, nor ignite by fire; nor does water affect its explosive properties. But a couple of pounds of the innocent looking stuff laid on a limerock and covered with earth, and then touched with a current of electricity, completely pulverized the stone, leaving nothing but the enormous bed which served as its hole. Of course, the inventor predicts great things of an agent so potent.

A colored member of Congress from South Carolina has demonstrated that his dignity cannot be assailed with impunity. He was grossly insulted by a Government clerk in an oyster saloon in Washington the other day. He represented the matter to the Department in which the clerk was employed, and he was promptly discharged—a rebuke which he will probably remember.

OREGON.

The winter in the Klamath Lake country has been very mild and stock has fared well.

The schooner Elvora from San Francisco, has brought up iron work for the light-house at Cape Foulweather.

The Jacksonville papers are still full of the disgraceful quarrel that has grown out of the Fay-Rallie affair. Can't they stop it?

The people of Coos Bay are talking of a railroad from San Francisco via that Bay to the Columbia river. Guess they won't build it soon.

The Roseburg Ensign says that Secretary Fleischner has entered under the liberal swamp land act about ten thousand acres of land in Coos county, from the settlers.

There is a report that Henry Klippel, of Jackson county, is to be a candidate for Congressional honors before the Democratic nominating Convention. It is rumored that the Democracy of Douglas county will have one too.

The Salem Statesman says: The C. P. Church of this city has commenced a series of meetings and will protract the same as long as the interest increases. Religious services are still being continued at the Methodist and Evangelical churches.

James Hunt, of Jacksonville, has sent to the Patent Office a model of a railroad brake. It is so arranged that by pulling a cord, running through the entire train, the brakes are immediately applied to every car at the same time. Any employee on the train can apply the brakes. This invention is applied on the old brakes, costs but little and is very simple.

The Statesman of Thursday says: Yesterday Mr. Arthur Breyman, who has a band of cattle numbering four hundred head on the Lower Yakima, received a letter bearing date February 6th, which stated that the snow in that vicinity began to melt on the 10th of January, and at the time of writing it was all gone. When the letter was written Mr. Breyman had lost only three or four old cows, and they were poor when the winter began. Mr. Cosper, who also has cattle in Yahima valley, has received news fully as favorable as the above.

GENERAL NEWS CONDENSATIONS.

On the 5th of January a severe shock of earthquake was felt throughout the Hawaiian Islands.

A Methodist congregation of eleven Mexicans has been organized at La Junta, the first of the kind in Mexico.

The workingmen of Great Britain have organized a committee for promoting the separation of church and state.

At Honolulu they have an ice machine, and a daily "freeze" of five or six hundred pounds supplies the town.

One hundred and forty thousand dollars of the stock of the New Meriden (Conn.) Insurance Company has been taken, and all by the Meriden people.

The Chicago Post says that the bell worn by the cow that kicked over the lamp that set fire to Chicago is on exhibition in that city in 61 different places.

The latest amusement of the boys at Louisville, Kentucky, is to place a line of the toy torpedoes on the street railway. When the car comes along it explodes the torpedoes, frightens the horses still worse, scares the passengers, and excites the city for many blocks around with the noise and light.

Amnesty.

This subject is now again before Congress. The New York Independent has these remarks upon it:

The Fourteenth Amendment was right, at the time of its adoption, in making all perjured traitors ineligible to office. This was a mild penalty for a great crime. Anticipating a changed state of things which might arise in the future, the same amendment provides that Congress shall have power to remove this disability by a two-thirds vote of both houses. This power, by special acts, has several times been exercised in individual cases. The question now before the people, and very likely to be a matter of discussion in Congress, is whether amnesty should not be universally extended by a general statute. The bill of Mr. Stevenson, which passed the House at the last session, proposes to do this, with certain exceptions; among which are those who withdrew from Congress to aid the Rebellion, those officers of the army and navy who resigned for the same purpose, and those persons who composed the secession conventions. The time has come when Congress can wisely extend the clemency of the Government to the great body of those who are now excluded from office by the Fourteenth Amendment, yet the conspicuous plotters and leaders of the Rebellion—such men, for example, as Jefferson Davis, Alexander H. Stephens, John C. Breckenridge, Robert Toombs, and the like—should be placed for the present in the category of exceptions, and be the very last to receive this favor, if ever. This is demanded by the gravity of their offense, as well as the dignity and moral sense of the nation. There need be no hurry in their case, since further discipline will do them no harm. Amnesty, with exceptions of this character, would now express the prevalent sentiment of the country, while contributing to the well-being of the Southern States, and serving to heal the wounds left by the war. It would be generous, and, on the whole, best realize the true idea of a broad and comprehensive statesmanship.

Alexis Inquiring about our Workmen.

During the Grand Duke Alexis' walks through the Bridgeport cartridge factory the other day, he pointed to several workingmen and inquired of Governor Jewell, "Are these men what you call the common people?" The Governor replied that they were a fair specimen of the working classes in this country. But do you mean to say that these get into official positions?" further asked the imperial soion. "Perhaps none of these men," rejoined Governor, Jewell, "but men of their class do; they are educated men, most of them—that is, they can read and write, and most of them take and read the newspapers." "Do you know of any cases where such men have actually been elected to office?" again queried the curious Alexis. "Oh, certainly," the Governor said; "I myself worked in the shop as a tanner till I was twenty years of age;" and the announcement seemed to puzzle the Duke a good deal. Here was the Governor of a State, as well dressed and as well appearing as himself, who had actually worked in a shop, and this man was welcoming him in behalf of a hundred thousand voters; it was more of an enigma than the boy had ciphered on previously; but as he goes through the country he will ascertain, upon inquiring, that many of the public men here have come direct from the work shop. In Massachusetts, where he is now visiting, Governor Claflin was a shoemaker, Senator Wilson was a cobbler also, and General Banks was a machinist. In every State just such self-made men can be found. They fill the highest places. President Grant was a tanner, and Vice President Colfax a printer. President Lincoln split rails for a living. There is no end to these examples of promotion. And the Duke may, if he chooses, gather facts enough to make a very interesting narrative, showing the beautiful working of a Republican system of government, to be recited to his most august parent, when the old gentleman shall ask him on his return to sum up the experiences of his journey.—Hartford Courant.

From New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13.—The carnival of Mardi Gras to-day was the most brilliant ever witnessed in this city. The procession was magnificent, including representatives of every conceivable character. The Grand Duke Alexis and suite witnessed the procession in front of the City Hall. The streets, windows and balconies, were crowded with spectators. Everything passed off quietly.

Fire and Lynch Law.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 14.—An Enquirer special says that late last Friday night the tobacco factory of Ayer & Bros., at Sacramento, Kentucky, was fired by an incendiary, and the building containing six thousand barrels of tobacco was consumed. The town narrowly escaped burning. One Clark, who had a quarrel with Ayer, was arrested and placed under guard, to be examined next day. During the night a masked party broke into the room, overpowered the guard, took the prisoner out. Next morning Clark was found dead at the foot of a tree. The Coroner rendered a verdict of death by hanging, by unknown parties.

REMOVAL NOTICE.

On Tuesday Feb 20th THE OREGONIAN will be removed to the new office on the south east corner of Front and Stark streets

Violations of Law

Among the minor unwarranted acts of the last Legislature of this State, was one to create the office of Assistant Treasurer of State, and to provide for his compensation This act is in direct violation of the Constitution, which imposes the duties of the office upon the Treasurer, and prohibits him from receiving more than eight hundred dollars per annum for performing them

But our vigilant ruling party ever on the alert to create new official patronage and to quarter its favorites on the Treasury, broke over this constitutional restriction, and, instead of permitting the State Treasurer to do the work of his office, created another office, unknown to the Constitution, and authorized the Treasurer to fill it with a person to do his work The Treasurer, therefore, is not under the necessity of residing at the Capital, a subordinate does his work, and the people pay something like $2,800 a year for service that formerly cost but $800

One per cent of all the money that passes through the Treasury is abstracted under this arrangement, in violation of the Constitution, to pay an "assistant" for doing work which the fundamental law makes it the duty of the Treasurer himself to perform, and the Treasurer gets his own salary besides The amount of money passing through the Treasury, including taxes, receipts from sales of land, etc, is something like two hundred thousand dollars a year,—possibly more One per cent. of this sum is two thousand dollars,—a handsome amount to attach to the Treasurer's office as "perquisites," being more than the salary of the Governor or Secretary of State.

It will probably be said that the salary of the Treasurer, as fixed by the Constitution, is insufficient Granted But does this afford a reason why the Constitution should be set at defiance? The office is not forced upon the Treasurer, he seeks it. The present one sought it, and was very anxious to be elected. Had he thought the salary so very insufficient, he was at liberty to decline

Large additional emoluments were given both to the Treasurer and Secretary of State, in direct violation of the Constitution The Treasurer is authorized to retain one-eighth of one per cent. per annum of all amounts deposited by insurance companies in the Treasury, and every outside company doing business in the State is required to deposit fifty thousand dollars. The Secretary is allowed twenty-five dollars for recording every certificate of such deposit, ten dollars for issuing a license to each life insurance agent or solicitor, and five per cent. of the amount of money received from sale of stamps for insurance policies The same party of retrenchment and economy that did these things doubled the salary of the Private Secretary of the Governor.

Now when it is considered that the Constitution expressly provides that the Treasurer, Secretary and other officers "shall receive no fees or perquisites whatever for the performance of any duties connected with their respective offices," this whole matter can be well understood It was a part of the great scheme which animated the last Legislature to make a general raid on the funds of the State under the forms of law, and was consistent with the locks bill, the litigant bill, the swamp land act, and the Portland police bill. No one ever before saw such a Legislature in Oregon.

Salaries of State officials are too small We readily admit it. But if they are to be increased let us have the Constitution amended. We are for decent salaries, and against all miserable fitches to get around the present Constitution so as to provide for officials more emoluments than that instrument will allow

Washington County Plank Road

On Saturday, the 17th inst, at 1 o'clock, a meeting will be held at Hillsboro in behalf of the proposed plank road from Portland to Washington county. We are assured that the meeting will be a spirited one, and that the people of Washington county are fully awake to the importance of the enterprise.

It would be desirable if citizens of Portland could be present at this meeting None can overestimate the importance of enterprises of this sort to the future of the city An Eastern paper, speaking of the growth of towns, says well that it is a common error into which many fall, of forgetting that it is the people and the enterprise of a place which give it its thrift, and not its locality. Public spirit is the motive power It has built cities at points where natural advantages were every way inferior to those enjoyed at other places which, though possessing everything else, lacked public spirit, and therefore could not go ahead. A city that expects to be the commercial center of a whole region should omit to do nothing that lies within its power to facilitate the interchange of products It should stretch out its arms in directions, and gather in business from all quarters

Portland as yet has not done enough in this regard She has not equalled either her means or her opportunities. An exhibition of more spirit in behalf of public enterprises is demanded, for the facilitation both of manufactures and of the interchange of the products of labor

The present editor of the Herald says that his predecessor, Mr Benah Brown, was a selfish, untruthful and bad man, therefore his testimony that the Democratic party of this State is the most "corrupt" organization he ever saw is not to be believed The Herald's opinions of men change. Rodney's Ride

The following graphic account of Cæsar Rodney's ride from lower Delaware to Philadelphia in July 1776, is from the pen of George Alfred Townsend in the Chicago Tribune We clip it from the Delaware Republican If such an event had happened a few degrees further east the hero of it would long since have been immortalized in prose and verse, while the story itself would have been stereotyped on the pages of countless school books The comparatively insignificant affair of Bunker Hill is commemorated in the Doric eloquence of Webster and by the towering column that bears and perpetuates its name while the final victory — the crowning glory — of Yorktown is suffered to pass into oblivion D

HOW DELAWARE CAST HER VOTE FOR AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE—AN INCIDENT OF THE REVOLUTION

The solitary episode of a dramatic or pictoral character attending the passage of the Declaration of Independence was the ride of Cæsar Rodney from Dover to Philadelphia in order to be present and give his vote on the Fourth of July This ride seems to me to be as fine for commemoration as Paul Revere's, or Sheridan's Ride, or any of the horseback feats which poets have made rhyme to I am familiar with the ground he passed over though not with the precise incidents of the gallop if the tradition of them yet exists, but as Rodney has plenty of collateral descendants still living, this notice may serve to call up the tardy literary resources of their Commonwealth and enable us to know the facts

There were three Delegates in the Congress of 1776 from the Territory of Delaware of whom Cæsar Rodney was the elder, then aged 46 He had been a member of the Stamp Act Congress was a man of ardent character and patriotism and soldierly talents and had been in active politics for many years John Adams described him to be "the oddest man in the world—tall, thin, slender as a reed, and pale—his face not bigger than a large apple, yet with sense and fire, spirit, wit and humor in his countenance"

George Read and Thomas McKean, the two other delegates from Delaware, were equal in years, and they had been schoolmates Read was a cool reflective, almost austere man, who relied on his judgment for direction, and was essentially a respectable second rate lawyer He was the grandfather of our present Consul General at Paris He did not approve of an open separation from Great Britain, although he had taken a dignified and decided stand against her aggressions McKean, who was the son of an Irish Presbyterian, like Read, was a more positive and confident man, full of zeal, courage and "snap," and he afterward became President of Congress and Governor of Pennsylvania He voted on the first day of July in the Committee of the Whole in Independence Hall, for absolute and separate American nationality, while George Read voted against it No States except Delaware and Pennsylvania voted against the great measure, the latter unanimously, but McKean resolved to put Delaware right upon the record by bringing up Cæsar Rodney to be ready with his vote when the question should be put on the Thursday following; and to obtain this majority it was necessary to send a courier into the lower counties of Delaware to find and fetch Rodney, who was engaged meantime in suppressing the Pennsylvania Tories, always turbulent and mutinous, and who had just arisen against the Whigs

McKean paid out of his own pocket the expenses of the courier, who left Philadelphia on Monday evening, and after a ride of thirty miles put up at Wilmington that night On Tuesday he was in the saddle again, no halted and rested on Tuesday afternoon at Cantwell's bridge, and arrived late on Tuesday night at Rodney's quarters, where he delivered McKean's letter

The fiery Rodney perused the letter, and it awakened all his pride of neighborhood He had just returned from Lewes and the refractory parts of Sussex and with his slender vital resources he needed rest But soon after Tuesday midnight he was on the way to the north, booted and spurred, and followed by only one attendant. About ninety miles, as the broken and meandering stage road ran, lay between him and the city of the Declaration.

He forded the branches of Little Duck Creek, full of spatterdocks and croaking frogs before daylight, and plunged into the wild scrub forest, which reached from what is now Leipsic to above Blackbird, in Newcastle county He swam Duck Creek, destitute of a bridge and often wide enough for a ferry, in the tune of dawn, and found a breakfast, generous as the hard times could afford, at Cantwell's.

Resting here till the afternoon, he mounted anew and passed the dwelling of Dr. May Tom Macdonough, the father of the future Commodore Macdonough, winner of the battle of Lake Champlain (who was not to be born for yet seven years) and he entered up on the rolling, loamy hills of St Georges Hundred, through which was to pass the future Delaware and Chesapeake canal Riding slowly around the deep marshes of St Georges creek, he watered his horse at the Red Lion tavern, and supped at New Castle, the oldest and chief town of Delaware and the home of George Read Ten miles after dark brought him to Wilmington on the Brandywine, and there he went to bed as wearied a man as ever rode a disinterested journey in the interests of his neighbors and a sentiment

A skeleton to look upon, living upon his mental rather than his vital resources at the best of times, Cæsar Rodney retired to bed within thirty five miles of Philadelphia six deep streams intervening, and Congress was to meet early on the 4th of July

Before the earliest and most reckless cock could crow, Rodney was in the saddle again, worn and muddy, and pulling at his vial of West India rum at intervals, he forded Naaman Creek and saw the sun stand broad ly above the Delaware at the town of Chester Then, riding toward the north he crossed Ridley, Crum and Derby creeks, the country all alive with excitement over the probable action of Congress that day to be reported—and near noon he passed the Schuylkill river

The city was all wasting little aware of the person and the perseverance of that thin, splattered, dusty man, whose horse picked his way over the suburban roads, almost ready to fall in his tracks Rodney feared every instant that the bell in the State House belfry would ring the news of independence and Delaware alone would stand hanging in the scale against it

He stopped at the State House front The delegates were fast speeding into the hall, and there waited Judge McKean, with a quiet smile of welcome overspreading his strong visage and boaled nose Rodney, booted and spurred leaped down from the saddle and shook his friend's hand Not a word upon the tremendous matter of the day passed between them as they walked together into Independence Hall

In a few moments the tired man was upon his feet, and he cast the vote of the Territory of Delaware for a new nation to be entitled the United States of America

It would be a libel to say that there are not plenty of men in this time of the world who would not ride ninety miles to do a less errand than Cæsar Rodney's, but he was one of the men of that time and it is his and their work that we celebrate every Fourth Day of July

It is now reported that Gov Grover has a large interest in the Herald The Statesman says that he has furnished money to set the litigant organ at Salem on its feet, and Upton has gone into Yamhill with money from the same purse to start an organ there The Governor, it seems, is making large use of his resources It is doubtless a handsome thing to have an interest in the litigant organs of the State The money that is advanced to start them can be got back soon from the public by means of the excessive charges which the litigant law allows, and a Governor who is a politician and an aspirant for the United States Senate can push his own ambitions projects besides

Clark county, W T, owes $26,006, which exceeds the debt of the Territory

GUADALOUPE MINE near San Jose Aug 16 1871

DR A M. LOWES & Co —For a long time I have been afflicted with Rheumatism in my hands and feet, principal seat of the disease being very severe On the 7th of July I procured some of your UNK WEED REMEDY and after taking only three bottles find that I am quite restored to health and strength I have had the Rheumatism for eleven (11) years and think that the success of the UNK in curing a disease of so long standing in so short a time is very remarkable

As a tonic and appetizer I have never met with any thing equal to the UNK WEED REMEDY During the time I was taking it I gained fifteen (15) pounds in weight Trusting that this certificate may be useful in inducing others afflicted as I was to try the UNK I remain, very truly yours

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 16, 1872.

CITY.

REMOVAL NOTICE.

On Tuesday, Feb. 20th, THE OREGONIAN will be removed to the new office, on the south-east corner of Front and Stark streets.

CONCERT.—On next Tuesday evening, at the Baptist church a musical entertainment, both vocal and instrumental, will be given as a testimonial to Mr. Geo. P. Newell on the occasion of his return to this city in depressed circumstances, produced by long-continued sickness in his family. Mr. Newell will be remembered by old residents of the city, as among the first and best teachers of music here. The Concert is being arranged under the direction of Mr. Wyatt, which is a sufficient guarantee that it will be enjoyable and worthy of patronage. Among the names of participants which we have heard mentioned, are those of Mrs. DePrans, Mrs. Corbett, Miss Lindsley, Mrs. Dalton, Messrs. McCormick, DePrans, Nesfield, Hatch and Harris with his able orchestra. The programme will be published in a day or two.

MAN IN A HOLE.—Wednesday night a man on his way home dropped into a hole in the sidewalk by the side of the Masonic Temple. The hole is one which the builders had left covered merely with loose planks. The man was more scared than hurt, and more indignant than scared. He thought the contractors ought to have been required long ago to not only construct a proper sidewalk, but to remove the piles of rubbish accumulated while erecting the building. In that he quite agrees with a great many who have occasion to go that way, especially after dark.

PLANK ROAD MEETING.—The public meeting in behalf of the Portland and Washington County Plank Road, as heretofore advertised, will take place at Hillsboro to-morrow, at 1 o'clock, P. M. As it is a matter in which the citizens of Portland are, equally with those of Washington county, deeply interested, would it not be well for as many of them as can get away to go out to Hillsboro and attend the meeting. The enterprise is one which will not go forward without help. Business men ought to see to it that Portland is well represented.

LEAP YEAR BALL.—The party given at Oregon City, Wednesday evening, by the young ladies, was attended by unusual numbers, and is reported to have been an exceedingly pleasant affair. Quite a number of gents from this city were present, and we have met two or three young and marriageable men who are eloquent in praise of the pretty girls, the music, the supper, the dancing and everything else. Cortes did the first fiddle and Graham the quadrille figures, while the ladies managed everything else.

WATER PIPE BROKEN.—Early on Wednesday morning a hack on Fourth street, where the railroad cut is, about two and a half feet deep caved, and falling upon an exposed water pipe broke it, allowing the water to rush out and create a flood in that region. The playful waters tumbled and roared down Fourth street for two or three hours, cutting away considerable earth and rendering it needful to do some filling where before excavation was necessary. Andy was finally waked up and the gush was stopped.

WORK RESUMED.—The contractors for furnishing stone for the U. S. Postoffice having brought over a few more stones from the quarry, Mr. St. John has resumed work on the building, and "the sound of the hammer" floats musically on the air of that neighborhood. If the stone can be had the work will be pushed along as rapidly as the weather will permit. Thus far the contractors have been slower than old Christmas.

MOVED CAMP.—Messrs. Kraemer & Co. received the following telegram yesterday from Mr. I. Kaufman, of their firm, dated at Laramie, Wyoming Territory, Feb. 12th: "Just arrived. Expect to be in San Francisco in ten days." From which it appears that the Oregon delegation—including J. H. Mitchell and family—have moved camp. When heard from before, they were at Cheyenne.

THE INSANE DODGE.—We hear that the man Hoboy who was indicted yesterday for rape, is practicing on the insane dodge and that probably insanity will be set up as a defense. Of course he's insane. Who doubts it? Everybody who commits an enormous crime is insane—the more revolting the crime, the greater the degree and certainty of insanity.

KNAPPTON.—A correspondent of the Herald, writing from Knappton under a late date, says: "This place though small, is in a flourishing condition. The cement kiln will be worked again in a short time. The saw mill and barrel factory are undergoing repairs, and will be in running order in a few days. Quite a number of settlers are coming in."

CHURCH OFFICERS.—Last Sunday at a meeting of the members of the German Evangelical Lutheran church of this city, the following officers were elected: Elders, J. A. Fischer, and Charles Meier; Deacons, Jacob Wilhelm, Henry Rhlen, Henry Bohlmann and Hiko Alberts; Treasurer, John P. VanEvidagh; Secretary, P. Limmerath.

LIFE OF JASON LEE.—Rev. H. K. Hines announces that, at the request of relations and friends of Rev. Jason Lee, he has undertaken to write the life of that Pioneer Missionary, and he appeals to everybody having material for such a work to forward it to him at Walla Walla.

WOODEN WEDDING.—Quite a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pope, of Oregon City, assembled at their residence Wednesday evening, the 5th anniversary of their wedding. One of the many presents was a cake nicely ornamented; another was a baby croquet set—all made of wood. The affair was a pleasant one.

THE ST. HELENS BAR.—Capt. West and his assistants have been for several days past, engaged in making soundings and taking bearings of the channel on the bar opposite St. Helens. The weather has, however, been so unfavorable, that not much progress has been made.

MUSICAL.—A singing section is about to be formed by one of the prominent teachers of this city, in connection with the Turn Verein Society. A number of persons are already prepared to join it. The full section will consist of thirty members.

REHEARSAL.—The Philharmonic Society have a rehearsal this evening at 7½ o'clock. Knowing that J. B. Wyatt, Esq., still conducts this Society, we are in hopes that members will be prompt in attendance at rehearsals.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.—Messrs. George H Flanders, Inspector of Hulls, and James Lotan, Inspector of Boilers, will start to-day for Coos county for the purpose of inspecting the steamers of that region.

ARRIVED.—The bark Webfoot, from San Francisco, arrived at this port yesterday forenoon, and commenced at once to unload at Flander's wharf.

THE PENDING ORDINANCE.

The following is a copy of an ordinance introduced in the Council Wednesday evening by Mr. Story, prescribing fire limits:

An Ordinance to prevent the erection of wooden buildings within certain limits:

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. That the whole of blocks numbered (14) fourteen, (15) fifteen, (16) sixteen, (38) thirty-eight, (41) forty-one, (29) twenty-nine, (28) twenty-eight, (33) thirty-three, (34) thirty-four, (27) twenty-seven, (26) twenty-six, (40) forty, (39) thirty-nine, (1) one, (2) two, (3) three, lying between A and Yamhill streets; also the western halves of blocks numbered (76) seventy-six, (77) seventy seven, (78), seventy-eight, (79) seventy nine, (80) eighty, (81) eighty-one; and also the western halves of the O. S. N. Co's and "Central block," lying between A and Yamhill streets, be declared within fire limits.

SEC. 2. All buildings hereafter erected within the fire limits shall have side walls or party walls made and constructed of brick, stone or other incombustible material, and such side walls shall extend from the foundation to the top of and through the roof of said building; and the roof shall be covered with such material as will afford protection against fire; and the walls shall be so constructed as to separate all wood work thoroughly and completely of the interior and exterior of such building from all and every part of the interior and exterior of any adjoining building. The term building, as used in this section, shall not include privies.

SEC. 3. All repairs to buildings made and constructed of brick, stone or other incombustible material, shall be made to conform to this ordinance.

SEC. 4. No wooden buildings within the fire limit blocks of said city shall be altered, changed or added to without the written permission of the Chief Engineer, approved by the Committee on Fire and Water, which permit shall express fully the alteration, change, or addition required; and no such permits shall be given if any increase is made in the size of wooden buildings in a fire limit block; a copy of each said permit to be kept on file in the office of the Secretary of the Fire Department.

SEC. 5. No building within the fire limit blocks shall be removed, except to a portion of some lot on which it or they may stand, to make room for more permanent improvements or to a point without the fire limits.

SEC. 6. Whenever any building shall be by any means so much injured as to be, in the judgment of the Chief Engineer a dangerous nuisance, or when any wooden building within the fire limits shall, in the judgment of the said Chief Engineer be damaged to the extent of one half or more of its actual value, the Chief Engineer shall immediately cause to be served upon the owner or person having control thereof, a notice requiring such person to remove the same forthwith; and the person receiving such notice shall, within (48) forty-eight hours after receiving the same, comply with the requirements thereof.

SEC. 7. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than (10) ten nor more than (100) one hundred dollars, and each day a maintaining or continuation of such violation, the same shall be deemed a new offence and punished accordingly.

SEC. 8. The Chief Engineers of the Fire Department, the Assistant Engineers, and the Secretary of the Fire Department, are directed to see that the provisions of this ordinance are enforced, and to make complaints in the Police Judge's Court for the violation of the provisions hereof.

PERSONAL, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[From the Advocate.]

Rev. A. C. Fairchild writes from Olympia, February 5th: Our Union Meetings have resulted in good. Six adults united with the M. E. Church last Sabbath, on trial, and several with the other churches.

We understand that the daily noon prayer meetings are continued at the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms, in Mr. Ladd's building, corner First and Stark streets. Invitations are doubtless left in the hotels and other public places for all to attend these meetings.

The Taylor street M. E. Sabbath-school, being entitled to twenty-three delegates to the State Temperance Convention, to be held at Salem on the 22d inst., has elected that number, and expects them to go. The Church will elect its full quota of delegates at the close of the prayer meeting this (Thursday) evening. The State Temperance Convention referred to will prove to be one of the most important ever held in this State.

The Mission Sabbath-school, held at the North Portland school house, is reported to be prospering finely. Miss Sarah Douglas was presented with a genuine silver medal, on Sabbath last, by the Superintendent, for having brought the largest number of new scholars not attending any other school. This school will give a concert soon, the avails of which will be appropriated to the purchase of a suitable library.

We are pleased to state that there is a growing interest this week at the noon prayer meeting at the M. E. Church. If Christians would take half the interest in making known these meetings and inducing others to attend them, which men of the world do to advertise their business or places of sinful amusement, the meetings would be much more largely attended, and be still more interesting and profitable than they are.

Bro. DeVore writes, concerning the Tumwater charge, February 5th: "The Tumwater charge is enjoying a degree of religious prosperity, under the labors of Bro. Hoxie, the pastor. His report, as made at his quarterly meeting, which closed on yesterday, was as follows: Received into full connection during the Quarter, 6 persons; received on probation, 7; baptised 5; preached 28 times, and made 90 pastoral visits.

All the Year Round.

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to those invisible enemies of health, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking root in the fields and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitter is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herb and bar ks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through them, the prosperity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation to them lies in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than a second-half mile from it direct Ferry blocks are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $50 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that long, and quite as wide, and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require the land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre—$50 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

The land is level—some timbered and some nearly clear—its altitude about the same as Portland—good roads—never overflows, and the price is regulated by the quality of the soil and the distance from the city.

Production and Consumption.

[From the Chicago Journal of Commerce.]

In their discussions, Free Traders lay an extraordinary stress on the rights of consumers, and parade them before the public eye as a class whose needs should be consulted in preference to those of producers. It is broadly assumed in such a presentation of the subject, and dogmatically insisted upon that there is, between producer and consumer, a clash of interests which cannot be reconciled. To admit the truth of such a proposition would be to admit deductively that the all-wise, all-powerful, all benevolent Creator had so constituted the affairs of this world that there could not be a harmony, but must necessarily be a discord of interests. Thus we would be led logically to impute injustice to God in his dealings with man. A doctrine which ends inevitably in conclusions like these, it is plain must be erected upon a false foundation.

It is common to hear from free trade sources such expressions as this, that the object and end of all production is consumption; but there is no force in the formula when it is considered there is equal truth in the statement that the object and end of all consumption is production. In fact, there is literally no act of production which is not also an act of consumption, and no act of consumption which is not also an act of production. The two are simultaneous and inseparable operations. Universal fact sustains this postulate. Suppose a grain of wheat deposited in the ground. As the seed quickens into growth a sprout is produced, every step of whose development has been accompanied by a consumption of part of the fructifying elements surrounding the gem. At every subsequent advance of the vegetative process, down to the harvesting of the ripened cereal, we find the same phenomena of decomposition and recomposition—in other words, of consumption and production. Ascending to a higher manifestation of this principle, suppose wheat transformed into food, and conveyed into the stomach of some living animal. Once there, it is consumed in the operations of digestion and assimilation, yet reappears in other forms of production, essential to the vitality and the sustenance of the body. Passing on to a still more complicated condition of existence, take the case of a blacksmith fashioning a horse-nail. By dint of sundry skillful blows, directed by intelligence, and beaten upon a rod of heated iron, the nail is gradually produced. At the same time, this muscular exertion and this exercise of brain and power, involve the consumption of a certain amount of the corporeal resources, drawn from the reserves of the vital organism, all which losalis being simultaneously repaired by the productive forces acting within the human structure. Finally, rising to the most exalted sphere of production, it has been ascertained that the production of thought results from a consumption of previously produced physical material. Thus, in whatever direction we turn, we perceive that production and consumption are correlatives, inseparably connected, and closely interdependent.

In natural order, however, production precedes consumption. The first declared acts of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe were acts of creation—in other phrase; of production. It is written that "In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth." This continued until the whole scheme of creation was perfected, and pronounced "good" by its divine author. From that time to this every act of production has involved an act of consumption, the two advancing steadily from the lowest to the highest forms. It follows from this as an unavoidable conclusion that production measures consumption—that the power to consume is determined by the power to produce—that the extent of production necessarily graduates the extent of production. In every societary formation, whose members are large producers, there must be large consumers likewise. Class institutions, vicious laws and corrupt administration may, indeed, seriously modify the conditions of production and consumption; yet it is none the less true that a copious aggregate of the former produces a copious aggregate of the latter. The savage produces little and hence consumes little, in general. His life alternates between a feast and a famine, and the feast invariably comes when he produces most—that is to say, when he kills most game and catches most fish. On the other hand civilized man produces much, and hence consumes much in general. With him plenty is the rule and scarcity the exception, and the scarcity always results from the diminished power to produce. It is plain, therefore, that any scheme which attempts to supply the wants of consumers, while leaving producers to take care of themselves as best they can, must be erroneous in principle and pernicious in practice.

Although the rights and interests of both these classes are reciprocal, and neither the one nor the other should be neglected, still the latter is of primordial importance, because production cannot be promoted without stimulating consumption, and consumption cannot be fostered when omitting to care for production. Between the two exists a reciprocity of relation, and whenever an economic policy disregards this mutuality, by aiding one against the other, it not only essays to set up an antagonism between compatibles—between individuals in community as societary integers—but also with each individual between himself at one time, and himself at another time; for every person is or should be, even when the meaning of the word is restricted to the construction of commodities, a producer as well as a consumer. According to the free-trade theory exchanges, he has interests, when he is the former, which clash with his interests when he is the latter: The legitimate effects of free trade are, then, to reinforce the principles of discord in preferences to the principles of harmony; or, to state the case differently, to strengthen the selfish motives and increase the reprehensible conduct of fallen human nature.

All the effects of the protective policy tend in the opposite direction. It works in accordance with experience, by considering all persons as producers as well as consumers. A judicious and stable application of its principles has always enforced the development of the protective power of the nation. Based upon a knowledge of the close affiliation existing between production and consumption, its task is to place producer and consumer side by side, making them much more nearly such correlatives in human industry as they are in nature's operations. Whenever labor depends on distant markets for the sale of its products it is plain that a considerable time must intervene between production and consumption. Such a system of exchanges does not follow the cogent example everywhere set up in the material and animal world, and instituted by divine wisdom and perfection. The rock collects the elements of change from the surrounding effluvia, not from the far-off ledge or earthy particles. The plant draws its sustenance from the soil in which it is rooted, and from the neighboring air, sunshine and showers, not from the remote field, and from the distant atmosphere. The cow, endowed with the power of locomotion, browses in the vicinity of her home, and not in the villages or upon the plains a score of miles away. Such is the mode of procedure in all nature, animate or inanimate, below man. He alone has ever voluntarily pursued a different course—he alone has interposed distance between production and consumption. This is the legitimate effect of free trade, running counter to a law of universal application. Whenever an article is produced in England, for instance, against whose production in this country no physical obstacles exist in climate, soil and other natural conditions, and that article is consumed in the United States, there is an absolute loss of time intervening between the moment of completed production and the moment of commenced consumption, resulting in a sluggishness of societary movement. It must be plain to every candid thinker that protection, by steadily diminishing this interval between producer and consumer, is working in the interests of an advanced civilization, and that it is fatally absurd when it is reasoned upon, or employed, as identical with taxation.

We have to report a continued stringency in the money market, although in commercial circles more ease is perceptible. It was the prevailing opinion that immediately following the opening of the Columbia river to the Dalles our money market would become easier, but as yet, outside of commercial circles, no relief is felt. The call for money is principally from parties desiring to improve property and also to make purchases of real estate in the city and in the agricultural districts. Last fall crops were reported short, and, from source of information reaching us worthy of credit, that the Bank of California proposed this spring to establish a branch in this city. If this report proves correct it will result in great benefit not only to the bank but also to our business interests, for the capital of our banks is not sufficient to carry on our large and rapidly increasing trade and commerce.

The bark Wolfoot, from San Francisco, arrived under tow this morning. She is in ballast and will begin loading a full cargo. A copy of manifest is given below.

The bark Metis will probably continue receiving cargo of Wheat for Cork on Monday.

The steamship Oriflamme is due to-morrow (Friday) night. She is announced to leave here Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 4 P. M.

Business for the last week has been light, but from reports reaching us from all sections of the interior we are inclined to think that our spring trade will open earlier and stronger than any previous year. The Sound ports are beginning more fully to appreciate our market for Groceries, etc., than heretofore, so the increasing shipments of such articles attest. The produce trade of the Sound we have always enjoyed, and do not expect it can be taken from us by any combination of circumstances. The stocks of goods now on hand are large, but not equal to the demand that will prevail when our trade revives. It is claimed, and justly we think, that not only all the regular coasters will be busily engaged (receiving quick dispatch in San Francisco as we do here) but the increase in trade will require additional vessels being placed on between this port and San Francisco.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

Produce Market.

BREAD—Quotable, Soda, 7c, Picnic, 7c; Butter, 7c; Jenny Lind, 11c; Gingersnaps, 11c; Pilot, extra, 9½c; Medium, 6c, Navy, 4c.

WHEAT—The market during the past week has been characterized by general lethargy, more so than for any week during the present harvest season. The straight lot (15,000 centals) mentioned by us in our last has not yet been sold, and from the price demanded by the holders—$2 05 per cental—will it be claimed not find a purchaser, unless prices in San Francisco or Liverpool improve on last quotations received. The bark Amelia cleared for San Francisco with about 9,000 centals sent on consignment for sale in that market. The steamship California, for Victoria and Sound ports, cleared with only 300 centals. The steamships in the harbor of San Francisco have not taken any out during the current month. Informa ion from the interior states that in many localities farmers are engaged in plowing every opportunity they have. The low prices ruling for wheat would indicate many to put in a diversified crop. If all would adopt this plan they would be the gainers in the end. Small fields of Oats, Flax, Wheat, etc., could be put in each year on large farms. At this writing we are unable to procure any quotations by which our readers can learn the market price—but as near as we can obtain it, the prices range to shippers at $1 80@1 85 ₱ cental, sacked and delivered, and to millers $1 90@2 ₱ cental, sacked and delivered.

FLOUR—Since our last week's review, prices have been marked down 50 cents ₱ bbl on former quotations. The steamship California on her last trip to Sound ports and Victoria only took out 328 bbls—mostly standard brands. The Wolfoot took out 1,000 bbls for San Francisco—mostly standard brands, and the barkentine Amelia cleared for same port with 600 bbls. The local demand is fair under the low prices ruling, and it is thought that orders from Victoria and Puget Sound, to be sent forward by next outgoing steamship, will be based upon the range of prices large shipments this year. Our millers in reducing prices only did what should have been done sometime ago. Our true policy, in order to build up direct trade and make us independent of the San Francisco market, is to have our prices a shade lower than those ruling in San Francisco. We quote market in jobbing lots for extra of standard brands at $6 25 ₱ bbl; choice country, $5 75@6 25; outside and mixture, $5 25@5 75.

OATS—Importations from San Francisco continue. From a reliable source we are informed that more are sold by farmers than ever before at this season of the year, when through seeding they would have little if any left. Farmers in many localities are feeding Wheat, it being cheaper and in better supply. We have been informed of a sale of 3,100 centals at Gervais to the contractor on the O & C. R. R. at 12 2½ ₱ 100-lbs. We learn of no other sale effected by the same party to a transportation company in this city at $2 50 ₱ cental. All our sales are based on grain being sacked and delivered.

BARLEY—Market quotable nominally at $2 15@2 25 ₱ cental

POTATOES—The supply in the country is large with producers holding back and in the meantime our market is taken advantage of by California and Sound dealers who are supplying us. Sound Potatoes are equal all in respect to Oregon. We quote market at $1 12½@1 37½ in lots; jobbing at $1 25@1 50 ₱ 100lbs.

ONIONS—Supply in the country reported to be in excess of requirement but farmers are holding for higher prices. Our market is supplied at present from California. We quote market at $2 25@2 50 per 100lbs in jobbing lots.

HAY—Demand is light with prices ruling steady at our quotations. The supply in the country is reported to be large—more than sufficient for our requirements. We quote market for baled Timothy at $25@30 per ton; other qualities at from $15@22 50 per ton.

FLAX SEED—None coming forward for shipment to San Francisco. The Pioneer Oil Factory at Salem contracted for the contract for this year's crop at from 3¾@4c and furnish the seed for raising.

FEED—The demand is steady with prices ruling at $25 ₱ ton for Bran; $28@35 ₱ ton for Middlings, Shorts, etc.

OIL MEAL—The Pioneer Oil Factory are unable to meet the call and have orders generally from one to two weeks ahead. We quote jobbing rates at 3¾@4c per ton.

BUTTER—Our market is supplied principally by California. Receipts from the country light. The lot of Augustic, from Tillamook, has not been sold yet. We quote market weak at 30@40c for choice in rolls, solid, 25@26c; fancy dairies from 40@45c ₱ lb.

PROVISIONS—No change at present moment. Stocks large and in some lines accumulating. Receipts from the country light, but supply in the interior is said to be large. We quote the market nominally in jobbing lots: Bacon, 14½ @c. sugar-cured hams, 15@17½c; Shoulders, 10½@11½c; Lard, in tins, 14@15c in kegs, 13@14c. Johnson's new, 10c; Keller's, 10c. FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1871.

Democratic Authority on the Tammany Thieves.

The immense frauds now being unearthed in New York, the results of "Democratic" rule, are producing a general reaction throughout the country, and are leading people to inquire whether the party ... may not for such infamies is ... exposures of fraud entrusted ... inventions," it may be as well to cite them to an authority which has been held in high repute among them,—we mean Pomeroy's Democrat. We quote:

"There are in the city of New York men high in Democratic authority—men who, by the use of money liberally expended, expect to control the next National Democratic Convention—who can, blindfolded, with one hand tied behind them, steal more in one hour from the people than all the Republicans in the city of Washington could steal in twenty-four.

"This crowd, the Democrat declares, are employing every effort to transfer the seat of their power from New York to Washington. We quote again:

"To this end Tweed, Sweeny, Hall, Connolly Jim Fisk, Belmont and a few other calculating gentlemen will leave no stone unturned to accomplish their aims. * * * It remains to be ... whether through bribery, demoralization and the buying up of here and there prominent Democrats, they can gain power for a plan ... crusade, not only against the City and State of New York, but against the United States for the next four years."

Isn't this a charming picture, and an authority that Oregon Democrats have great admiration for? The Democrat further says that all these men have in a very brief space of time become millionnaires out of the distributed divi... as of rascality, and that "the Democracy of the United States has more to fear from the frauds, ... who are managers of affairs in the city of New-York, than from their enemies, the Republicans."

Striking inducement to help oust the thieves of the noon to the Democratic party and to install these thieves at Washington, isn't there?

Hon. ... Party.

On the 22d July Senator Morton of Indiana delivered a speech at the Merchants' Exchange in Cincinnati, in which he expressed the opinion that "never in the history of this country had we such favorable prospects as now. That late treaty with England he believed to be the greatest triumph ever held to the character and power of our nation. This treaty gave us assu... ... ance of ... ... ce and inaugurated a new era among nations in the settlement of differences without war. He encouraged merchants by presenting a bright business future, and assuring them that he never, in the course of his life, saw more confidence than was now felt."

Beyond question, the Senator was right in this judgment. Never before did the whole country enjoy so great and so general prosperity. Evidences of it are seen on every hand. Turn which way we will, they present themselves continually. They appear in the increase of agricultural production, in the growth of manufacturing industry, in the rapid construction of railways and other great internal improvements, in the extending of settlements to new parts of the country, in the growth of towns and cities and the erection of great and splendid buildings, in the increasing comfort and elegance of all the homes of the country, and in a thousand other ways which must impress every observer. When these facts are rightly considered, how pitiful is the mumping cant, so often heard, that the country is on the down grade to perdition, that the poor are growing poorer, and that nothing but a miracle (or the success of the Democratic party) can give us back our prosperity! We have prosperity now, and more of it than we ever before enjoyed, and the fact of its unexampled is the most patent fact of the present time.

The ... of the ... has been absent from his post for a fortnight, and of course he does not ... to ... ops. In the Oregonian when he says that there has not appeared in the columns north of it to show that the Catholic Archbishop of New York, and the Catholic ... generally, besought their flocks not to interfere with the Orange procession. Here the Bulletin is mistaken. On the 25th July we published the utterances of Archbishop on the subject,—the very same which the editor of the Bulletin has inserted in his paper since his return. In matters of this kind it is always our aim to avoid partiality.

Very many of the heavy capitalists of New York are joining in the movement to shring the Tammany thieves to an account. There is reason to hope that this organization, which stands at the head of the Democratic party of the United States, and is trying to get into power at the national capital, will be broken up and its members punished as they deserve. The power of the Democratic party of the United States is founded upon the corruptions and robberies of this thieving ring. Suppress this ring, and New York becomes a Republican State, and Democratic hopes for 1872 are no more.

Last January when the German Ponce Jubilee was held in San Francisco, the Examiner of that city, "the leading Democratic organ of this coast," said that the demonstration was a "glorification of the triumph of imperial despotism over republicanism." "Let people," it added, "who believe in democratic institutions keep dark to-night, for imperialism will be abroad." The Examiner is now begging hard for German votes for the Democratic ticket, but with very poor success.

We hope we are as little disposed as our neighbor of the Bulletin to continue a controversy over the questions which have been discussed in connection with the New York riot, and we willingly respond to its expression, "Let us have peace." Having said upon the subjects of discussion all we felt called on to say, we are ready to drop the whole matter, and to reciprocate the friendly spirit which our neighbor evinced in his articles of yesterday.

A letter from Berlin states that the German Atlantic Cable will soon be laid. The company is organized with a capital of 1,000,000 thalers (about $750,000 gold), and will commence operations in September. The initial point is Emden, on the North Sea. The programme is to be carried out as follows: To commence by laying a cable from Emden to England, and to hire one of the English Atlantic cables to connect with it till the laying of their own is completed.

Testimony taken by the Ku Klux Committee in the Southern States show a terrible state of affairs,—murders, whipping and intimidation by wholesale. At many points the Committee were beset by large numbers of victims of outrage.

The Ruler of New York.

George Alfred Townsend thus writes of the ruler of New York, the chief man of the head organization of the Democratic party:

I have known Tweed for very many years. He is a man without shame, and very nearly without fear. A newspaper attack will make Dick Connolly think [illegible] committed; he is going to [illegible] straightways and he will cringe and [illegible] to [illegible] he is really nothing [illegible] Fenton than Dick-[illegible] Pageant [illegible] dies, even if he dies [illegible] by the same sen-[illegible] attack like a man of [illegible] and worldly wisdom, who has lived long enough to [illegible] the good opinion of the world to the high [illegible] city; but, unwilling to give up his bad power, he can only sit and mope and have a mental spell of sickness every time he is astonished that no one respects him. But Bill Tweed, or "Tweedy," as they call him, is perfectly callous; nothing impresses him; he has a fit of good nature, spells of licentiousness, a good deal of gluttony, and much of the low tastes well kept in check; but for all he is a power in business man, always at work, never wearied out, never thoughtful, stirring from [illegible] till midnight, doing a great part of this work himself, a fair judge of agents, a big brutal nature, equal to the most brutal situations and subjects, with the same spirit which drives a mule or runs Stewart's dry-goods house—confidence, economy, energy, enterprise. He has [illegible] of big build, brown complexion, square head, square shoulders, big limbs and feet, gray eyes, and a quick, prompt manner, without a particle of gravity or gentlemanity in him. If you were to go over and see him now, and say: "I have a sketch of you exactly as you are, and I want the points," Tweed would reply: "I would give them to my son, to you, if it could be done in a minute, but there are a thousand things just now on my hands. I am on the make; you put that down sure. I keep my eyes wide open for whatever comes in which my arm can reach as well as will go, and put my hand out as well as I can. St. Lawry friends, that's me! If that will do, my son, you go and print it." The character of this man takes it with the least classed, whom he [illegible] descended. It fills connolly with terror and admiration, and it makes the more logical and mutually Sweeny acknowledge Tweed's superior ability. Tweed used to be a cabinet-maker, with business habits, and getting into politics out of naturally hunting honey rowdyism, he read law a little, learned to make a rude sort of speech, and has gone on from grade to grade until he rules New York [illegible]

Is Pittsburg Behind the Age?

The city of Pittsburg, with its suburbs, has now a population of 300,000. Although city, one of its suburbs, having not less than 60,000 [illegible] these two cities and several contiguous boroughs are counted, for [illegible] purposes, as one place.

A great city has been built up in great part through its manufacturing interests. An exchange enumerates some of their industries:

The most wonderful feature of Pittsburg [illegible] is the vast congregation of manufactories, which may be [illegible] summed up, there are in all about 1,500 of various kinds in the city. The number of these [illegible] and steel mills, with a capacity of 340,000 tons consumption of metal, having 632 puddling furnaces, 160 heating furnaces and 583 [illegible] There are also 60 iron foundries, and the total consumption of pig metal is equal to 400,000 tons annually, being one-fourth of all that is produced in the United States, which, in 1868, was 1,603,000 tons. Of the 400,000 tons, 50,000 are made in the furnaces at Pittsburg from the ores of Lake Superior and Missouri, brought to Pittsburg for smelting. The [illegible] is brought from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The city is skirted with collieries, the number of which is about 100, from which over 140,000,000 bushels of coal are annually taken, returning, when sold $12,000,000. Besides these there are six cotton mills, using 15,000 bales annually. [illegible] petroleum oil refineries, with a refining capacity of 31,500 bbls. a week; two large copper rolling mills and one copper smelting works; thirty-five nail, saw and planing mills; twenty-five breweries; twenty tanneries; twenty brass foundries; eighteen carriage and wagon factories, and sundry other establishments. The value of the trade and manufactures of Pittsburg last year was estimated at $178,000,000.

The continually ascending smoke from its centre to its circumference is all that exists to mar the inviting appearance of the city, whose situation can scarcely be surpassed by any other city in the country. Built principally in the valley of the rivers, it is surrounded by high rolling grounds, from 200 to 400 feet in height. Upon these heights in all directions are built, above the smoke of the workshops, the fine residences of its citizens. The matter of consuming smoke is one of the problems of the day; the smoke being not only an inconvenience, but an actual loss of 20 per cent. of the fuel employed, and in Pittsburg especially its solution possesses a peculiar interest.

Concerning Lobsters.—Three wholesale dealers in lobsters in Boston, boil, at this season, on an average, about 13,000 daily, and one firm keeps ten vessels constantly employed in bringing them to market. The demand is brisk from all sections of the country, and the only difficulty experienced is in getting them quick enough. The lobsters run very small, not averaging two pounds each. They are brought mostly from the coast of Maine, in "smacks," which are fitted up with well-rooms, though considerable quantities come from the South Shore, Plymouth, Duxbury, etc. Prices do not vary much from last season, though, with a scarcity, they are tending up.

A country merchant who wanted two tailor's geese, several years ago, ordered them of a firm of hardware merchants in the city. He first wrote this order: "Please send me two tailor's geese." Thinking this was not grammar, he [illegible] and wrote thus: "Please send me two tailor's geese." Upon reflection he destroyed the second, for fear he should receive five geese. He thought over the matter till he was very much worried, and at last, in a moment of desperation, he seized a pen, and wrote the following, which was duly posted: "Messrs. So-and-so: Please send me one tailor's goose; and, hang it, send me another."

A. B. Richardson & Co. hold a large sale of tobacco and Groceries August 9, 1871.

We have seen in several of the San Francisco papers, in making the probable foreign shipments from that port of Wheat, they put Oregon down as contributing quite heavily. We are inclined to the opinion that they are counting without due consideration, as parties who made direct shipments to Europe are so pleased with their venture that they intend shipping fully half so much more if not double, provided our farmers do not hold for too high prices, thus precluding the possibility of purchasing Wheat for shipment, and, of course, that will close out the San Francisco market also. The shipment of Wheat to San Francisco from the 1st of January, 1871, amounts to 30,000 [illegible]

The price of Wheat in Liverpool is 11s 6d; being 1d higher than ruled last year at this time. The crops of Wheat in Germany and Northern France are not good, but those of Southern France, Italy, Spain, Danube Provinces and Russia, are reported large. The supposition that the war would largely diminish the production of France and Germany, and grain-producing countries to make greater accretion to meet the expected demand, and, consequently, the yield is expected to be very large. Nothing is as yet definitely settled as to the crops in England, and it will be fully four weeks yet before estimates can be made with any degree of certainty as to the yield there. In consequence of this uncertainty, shippers in San Francisco are not prepared to buy heavily at present prices ruling, but are watched, although many vessels await chartering which, with the large number to arrive will, if not already, lower chartering rates.

The volume of business transacted the week under review, is in advance of the two previous weeks. One of the principal causes of improvement in business the past week is, that merchants east of the mountains, and particularly from Idaho, have been extensive purchasers. Complaints are made of remittances coming in slowly, but we are told that merchants in agricultural counties are willing to make collections, even if they thought it, owing to farmers now using all surplus means, to pay it any, and if not then borrowed money, with which to pay hired help. The scarcity of coin is also [illegible] as, though we are beginning to doubt if the city is real, for we are inclining to the belief more coin is or can be made available than thought. We have to charge a note in the prices of candles, hardware, canned goods, tobaccos, liquors, boots and shoes, or of any other merchantable commodity.

THIS INSTITUTION IS DEVOTED TO THE treatment and cure of all old Chronic and Private Diseases of every grade and character. All Medicines prepared and furnished by the Doctor himself. No mercurial preparations of any kind used either internally or externally. An experience of twenty-two years enables me to permanently cure many of the so called incurable diseases with which the human family is afflicted. Any and all complaints can be cured on application to this Institution that can be cured in the larger cities of the United States. Of this fact I have proof to present for investigation. Many old complaints in and around Portland are already cured, which the afflicted can have for reference, excepting Private cases, which in no case will be given. If matters not how much medicine you have taken, how long you have been treated or by whom. Call and investigate. Truth proved no one can doubt, without proof no one is bound to believe.

Office consultations FREE OF CHARGE.

Cases treated by letter. Medicines packed and sent to any address.

To the Ladies.

You who are suffering a life of misery which makes existence a burden, whether married or single, can in nearly every instance be cured in a short period of time, thus becoming healthy and free from pain, weakness, debility and disease, which, like the canker worm, slowly but surely destroys vitality. Call if only for advice without the use of poisonous medicines of any kind. All consultations, examinations, letters and communications strictly confidential.
